

FAITH, RELIGION AND SPIRITUALITY

People's beliefs provide a range of opportunities to strengthen their resilience, and people without religious or spiritual beliefs also benefit when they adopt similar habits and practices, for example mindfulness.

The exercises that follow provide an opportunity to explore the practices and habits of people who do not have religious or spiritual beliefs and celebrates the religious affiliations of those who do.